Miss Barbara Ann Jamerson Weds Harry Ottoway Guill

Decorations of banked greens with branched candelabra, basket arrangeemtns of gladioli and white asters, lighted by candles, reflected the bridal mote in Liberty Baptist Church Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock, July 30, for the wedding there of Miss Barbara Ann Jamerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Jamerson, and Harry Ottoway Guill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Guill, all of Appomattox. The Rev. Carl A. Collins, Jr., the pastor, was celebrant, and Mrs. David Goode, soloist, and Miss Cecil Hillsman, pianist, provided the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore Chantilly-type white lace and tulle floor length dress over satin. The basque was emphasized in the front with a scalloped edging of the lace matching the Elizabethan collar. A redingote effect of the bouffant net skirt was formed by the scalloped edge of the lace, which spread into a circular train. Her finger tip length veil of illusion was attached to a Dutch bonnet of lace with scalloped outline. She carried a prayer book covered with white roses, showered with stephanotis.

Miss Jackie Lee Jamerson, sister of the bride, and Miss Marilyn Guill sister of the bridegroom were her only attendants, dressed in white organdie over taffeta. The bridesmaids carried crescent shaped bouquets of large white majestic daisies and yellow roses tied with yellow ribbons.

Janice Marie Jamerson, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and was dressed in white organdie over taffeta designed with a basque puffed sleeves, round collar and full skirt.

George Edward Almond,- "Spud"- cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Best man was Carlton Guill brother of the bridegroom, and ushers were George C. Franklin, Herbert Jamerson, Burke Giull and Bud Chernault.

Mrs. Jamerson was in blue lace and the bridegroom's mother also wore blue. Both added orchids.

The bride traveled in an all white outfit, with white roses at the shoulder. They will make their home in Appomattox on their return from a bridal trip. Both are graduates of Appomattox High School.
